RED SEA AND INDIA TELEGRAPH COMPANY.—Telegraphic Communication has been successfully established between Suez and the island of Jubal in the Red Sea, and arrangements have been made with the Post Master General for all mail steamers to call off Jubal on their way to and from Suez, to land and receive messages.

This is to give notice that the undersigned has been appointed sole agent in Bombay for the Red Sea and India Telegraph Company, and that he is prepared to receive messages from this date forward, subject to the following conditions.

Pending the receipt of a printed tariff, messages will be received in Bombay for any telegraph station in the United Kingdom at the rate of Rs. 35-8 for the first twenty words including names and addresses of sender and receiver, and Rs. 17-12 for every additional ten words or fraction of ten words.

No figures to be used in a message.

All messages will be numbered as they are received and will be forwarded from Jubal in the same order.

Every message to be accompanied by its cost, a small printed receipt will be handed to the messenger bringing it, upon which will appear the number of the message.

It is particularly requested that each message shall be forwarded to this office in a sealed envelope bearing upon its face the words "Overland telegram," and addressed to the Agent of the Red Sea and India Telegraph Company.

As the majority of messages will come in about the time the mails leave, all correspondence about them will have to stand over until they have been despatched, and it is therefore advisable that trustworthy messengers should be sent with them so as to avoid the necessity for correspondence.

At present the undersigned is not prepared to furnish a list of the telegraph stations in the United Kingdom nor to state the rates for intermediate ports or places.

All messages from up country stations, must be accompanied by a reference for payment to some firm in Bombay. For further particulars apply at the office.

complished. Only fancy all the transactions in haddocks, haggises, and sausages in Glasgow being forced upon the attention of the Indian Military Finance Department, together with the purchases of millinery in Regent Street, plate in Cornhill, consols at the Royal Exchange, cats' meat in the streets and manure from the middens of all nations, to say nothing of any thing else in any other place on the whole face of the earth. Nothing after this would be too extravagant for the financier to take upon himself and force upon his subordinates. We shall probably hear next that they are to change the place of the sun by removing it from the milky way to some other part of the heavens; that they are to stop the precession of the equinoxes; that they are to reverse the earth's rotation on its axis, and make it turn from East to West; that they are to stop the revolutions of the moon round the earth, and turn a somersault over Diana as she stands still. Beware of the moon! The moon is a dangerous topic to discourse upon in the presence of a temperament like that of the "great financier." Lest we should become somewhat moony by our lunar reflections and meditations, we dismiss the subject on the present occasion, merely premising, that we have not, as we anticipated we should have done, exhausted the whole of our "odds and ends."

SUNKURSETT CHARITABLE DISPENSARY.—The total number of Patients admitted during the last month was 219, of these were 86 Hindoos, of whom 58 were males; only one Moosulman who was a female; 110 Parsees; 41 being males; 14 Christians, 8 being males, and 8 of other castes, of whom only 1 was male.

With regard to ages there were 63 under ten years of age, 43 under twenty, 31 between twenty and forty, 30 between forty and sixty and 2 upwards of sixty. Out of the 219 admissions 153 cured, 52 absented and 14 are remaining under treatment.

A correspondent of the Lahore Chronicle writes:—"The Calcutta Volunteer Corps has ceased to exist, and it seems not unlikely that the Punjab Force also will sink into a premature grave, unless some strong measures be taken to infuse into its members new life and energy. It appears to me that three things are wanting, a little encouragement by the local Government, some interest to be taken by the Officers, and a good deal of perseverance to be exhibited by the other members." There is to be a general meeting of the Bombay Volunteers on Monday next, and we understand the question before the meeting will be one which may be stated in the emphatic words of Hamlet—to be or not to be, that is the question. We are sorry that things should have come to this pass with our gallant volunteers. It is not too late yet to save the corps, and with it the credit of Bombay. The things that are wanting with us are just those of the want of which the Lahore Volunteer complains. Let them be supplied. Let the local Government afford more encouragement to the volunteer movement; let the officers as a body take more interest in the corps; and let the privates exhibit a little more perseverance. We trust that the supply of what is wanting will be the result of the meeting on Monday, and not the dissolution of the Corps.

THE Poona correspondent of the Delhi Gazette, thus gazettes the United Service Institution of Western India:—"You possibly remember the establishment of the United Service Institution of Western India. It was set going under the eyes of Sir W. Mansfield, and the Bishop of Bombay: but in spite of this illustrious patronage, the really excellent library collected, and which everything is kept, I am given to understand, the place does not thrive. It has absorbed a Station Library which existed in old times, to which you paid one rupee subscription. The present management is characterized by a rather marked exclusiveness, and little encouragement is given to parties not being officers of Government seeking admission." We do not know how far this statement is to be relied on. It so truly describes, however, the usual fate of such institutions amongst us, that it requires but little credulity to believe it. We should like to hear from our Poona cotemporaries on the subject.

THE health of the town steadily continues to improve. The mortuary report for the past week shews that the number of deaths have been 305, being 5 fewer than the previous week and 63 lower than the average of the past ten years. There has been a decrease in the number of deaths from cholera during the week, being 65 casualties from that epidemic. The deaths from fever were lower, being 143; from small-pox 3, and from measles 2. From diseases of the nervous, vascular, respiratory, alimentary, and sexual systems there have been deaths 9, 1, 20, 31 and 2 respectively. There were 25 deaths from cachexy and debility, 1 from leprosy, and 2 from dropsy. There was one death from accident and violence, besides 6 still-born births. In order of caste the deaths may be classed as follows:—Hindoos 191, Mahomedans 62, Parsees 29, Native-Christians 13, Indo-Europeans 2, Europeans 5 and Negro-Africans 3.

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

DEATH BY DROWNING.—An Inquest was held before the Coroner, Dr. Reid, at the Morgue on the 2nd instant, touching the death of Kulsoombye, a woman, aged thirty years. From the evidence of the witnesses produced it appeared that the deceased had been insane for the last week or so and that she was in the habit of wandering about and talking nonsense. The son of the deceased came home on the morning of the first instant, and not finding his mother at home, he went in search of her and not being able to find her, he reported the circumstance to Mr. Edginton. Later in the morning, as he was passing by the Baboola Tank, his attention was attracted by seeing a crowd of persons there, and on going there he found the body of a woman lying there, which he recognised as being that of the deceased. The body had been observed floating on the surface of the water in the Tank, by a man that went there for the purpose of drinking water.

Verdict:—That the deceased, who had been insane for some time, was found drowned in the Baboola Tank.

SUICIDE.—Another Inquest was held at the same time and place, before the Coroner, on view of the body of Muktee, a woman about thirty years of age. From the evidence adduced it appears that the unfortunate deceased drowned herself in a well while suffering from the delirious effects of fever.

Verdict.—That the deceased committed suicide, while delirious from fever.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.—An inquest was held at the Morgue before the Coroner, on the 4th instant, touching the death of a woman of the name of Lachoo, aged thirty years. It appears that the unfortunate woman went from her own residence to the shop of a man a short distance off, and that while she was talking with the shopkeeper a portion of the roof of the house where they were in fell down, and a large beam of wood fell on the deceased and fractured her skull. She was immediately taken to the Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy Hospital, but from the injuries which she had sustained her case was pronounced to be hopeless. The poor sufferer was then conveyed back to her own home where she shortly afterwards expired.

Verdict.—Accidentally killed.

BOMBAY POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

FORT POLICE OFFICE.

Friday, 4th April 1862.

(BEFORE W. CRAWFORD, ESQ.)

ASSAULT AT SEA.—John Owens, Boatswain of the ship Monica, was charged with assaulting a seaman of the name of John Donnelly belonging to the same ship.

John Donnelly, a seaman, complainant, on being sworn said.—Defendant smashed my face nearly all to pieces. I could not see for nearly five days. This assault took place on the 4th or 5th of March, on board the ship Monica, at sea. The defendant held me by the throat of my head over a tub of salt water and tried to blind me with the blood. I was for four days unable to work.

John Watson, seaman said.—At about eight o'clock in the morning on the 5th of March, I saw the defendant strike the plaintiff the first blow, when they both fought together. I was the only man present at the beginning of the affair.

Two other witnesses were examined, who corroborated the testimony of the complainant, in the main.

For the defence, the Carpenter's mate was called. He said, that he saw the carpenter taking the complainant off the defendant, and that complainant "squared" at the latter afterwards.

The defendant said.—I gave plaintiff a shove telling him to go aloft. He squared at me, when we had a round or two. We each did our best. He gave me the first fall. The carpenter pulled him off me.

HIS WORSHIP.—You are fined five rupees.

AN OLD THIEF.—Shaik Hoosein Shaik Hajee was charged with stealing eight copper-pots the property of Rustomjee Manockjee.

Prosecutor sworn.—I am a Dubash. The prisoner was in the service of Sydoo a Tinman. About fifteen or sixteen days ago I gave Sydoo nine copper-pots to tin them, they were worth Rs. 20. At 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, I saw the prisonor in custody of a Policeman near my house at Dhobie-talao, I heard him say at the house of Constable Bell, that he kept the pots. This is one of my pots (produced) my name is on it.

Police Sepoy No. 876.—On Tuesday morning the prisoner was made over to me by his master on a charge of stealing pots. The prisoner took me to a prostitute's house where I found this pot.

Sydoo Ahmed said.—I am a tinman, and the prisoner is my servant. About eleven days ago I gave him eight pots which had been tinned to take to the prosecutor's house. The prisoner did not return. On Thursday morning last I seized the prisoner in the hay market. He then pointed out a man, of the name of Emam, with whom he said he had pledged them. After that he brought me to a woman's house and the policeman went with him and brought this pot, which was one of these I tinned for the prosecutor.

Some other witnesses were called in support of the prosecution.

The prisoner had nothing to say in his defence.

HIS WORSHIP said, that the case was proved against the prisoner, and as he found that he was an old offender, he scatenced him to be imprisoned for four months in the House of Correction with hard labour.

(BEFORE N. W. OLIVER, ESQ.)

A DESERTER.—Edward Howell, Steward of the ship Edward Percy was brought up on remand charged with deserting the ship. The Captain not having produced any further evidence this day to substantiate the charge, His Worship ordered the prisoner to be discharged.

CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST.—Hurry Soorjee was charged with having committed a criminal breach of trust in misappropriating certain monies the property of his employers.

Mr. Nesserwanjee appeared for the prosecution.

The prisoner was undefended.

Bimjee Rowjee called and examined by Mr. Nesserwanjee.—I carry on business in partnership with my brother Veerjee Rowjee. This book, (produced,) the cash book is mine, it is called "mail," of this year 1918. This entry is in my handwriting. On Magsur Wud, the 6th Monday, I received from the prisoner ninety-two rupees and three annas, on account of Ballajee Sewpursaud. Prisoner said,—"I received ninety-two rupees and three annas of him, credit this on his account." Thereupon I credited that amount. I now see (referring to the book in his hands) these figures 92 at the upper side of the entry. Those figures appear to have been scratched and altered to Rs. 162-5 annas and a half. The figures 92 at the bottom of the entry have not been altered. I can swear that the alteration was made by the prisoner. I have never received the difference between 92 and 162 rupees from the prisoner, on account of Ballajee Sewpursaud.

Narrayenpursaid Ramakut.—I am a Moonim in the employ of Sewpursaud, and have had dealings with one Bhimjee Rowjee. I produce my receipt book. I remember paying money to the prisoner on account of Bhimjee Rowjee. This is the entry (indicated in the book.) It is signed by the prisoner and dated Powth und the 6th, that corresponds with Maghser vad the 6th. I paid into the hands of the prisoner one hundred and fifty-eight rupees and a quarter and I expected that amount to be credited to me by Bhimjee Rowjee. The original amount due was one hundred and sixty-two rupees and a half. It was about that sum. There may have been some difference in the number of annas. That sum has been credited to me by Bhimjee Rowjee. I expect that it has been. I have not seen Bhimjee Rowjee's books. I may have sent money before by the prisoner. I knew that he was in the employ of Bhimjee Rowjee's firm.

HIS WORSHIP remanded the prisoner until Thursday next.

BULLOCK-CONVEYANCES RUNNING ILLEGALLY.—Luxumon Ballajee, Rutton Pandoo, Lalla Gopal, Narayen Muthorjee, Nuthoo Valjee, Ramchund Hema and Mothabhoy Dinnanathjee, were charged at the instance of the Collector of Municipal Taxes with running their bullock-conveyances without being numbered and registered as required by Act XXV. of 1858.

The defendants pleaded a variety of pleas, such as sickness, broken state of their gharries, &c. but none of them proved availing.

The charges were proved by an Inspector of the department, and the Magistrate sentenced the defendants in fines: Nos. 1 and 4 in Rs. 3 each, they having registered before the summonses were served, although after they had been issued; and Nos. 2, 3, 5, 6 and 7 in Rs. 10 each, they having been moved by neither warning nor summons.

COURT OF SMALL CAUSES.

(Friday, 4th April 1862.)

(BEFORE N. SPENCER, ESQ.)

Bhugwan Bhima and others, vs. Jaffer Hoosein.

Mr. Barton instructed by Mr. Sangster appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Nesserwanjee for the defendant.

INFANCY AGAIN.—This was an action for the recovery of Rs. 421-9-8 for two Promissory Notes of Rs. 200 each with interest at the rate of 24 per cent per annum, passed by defendant to plaintiffs on the 2nd and 3rd of January last.

Mr. Nesserwanjee.—Your Honor, the plaintiff is not in Court. In an unlucky hour we borrowed Rs. 100, and passed seven promissory notes, the amount of which was not mentioned, we trusted to the honesty of the Marwarree. He sued us on one note and got an exparte verdict. That he might not get a ca sa issued against us, we gave two other promissory notes. The plaintiffs kept these two notes in their possession and got the ca sa issued for Rs. 553. Plaintiffs have eight other promissory notes. We plead failure of consideration and infancy.

Mr. Barton.—There are a good many of these infancy cases turning up just now.

HIS HONOR.—Very well, Mr. Nesserwanjee, where are your witnesses? I suppose you don't want to put the defendant into the witness box to prove his own birth?

Mr. Nesserwanjee.—I have no witnesses here, your Honor.

Mr. Barton.—I suppose, your Honor, I had better put the plaintiff into the box?

HIS HONOR.—Yes, prove your case.

Bhugwan Bhima.—The money mentioned in these two promissory notes, now produced, is still due to me with interest.

Mr. Barton.—That's my case, your Honor.

HIS HONOR.—Now, Mr. Nesserwanjee, are you prepared to prove your pleas?

Mr. Nesserwanjee.—No, your Honor, my witnesses are not here.

HIS HONOR.—In that case the verdict will be for the plaintiff.

Mr. Barton.—With costs, your Honor.

Mr. Nesserwanjee.—I submit, your Honor, that this is an exparte case, and therefore the plaintiff is not entitled to costs.

HIS HONOR.—No, I do not consider it to be an exparte case; the defendant puts in the pleas of want of consideration and infancy; if those pleas had not been put in there would have been no occasion for the plaintiffs to have employed counsel. I am clearly of opinion that the plaintiffs are entitled to costs.—Verdict for plaintiffs, with costs.

INDIAN.

NEWS LETTER.

HYDERABAD, DECCAN. 31*st March* 1862.—One of the rumours at an early stage connected with Ram Prasaud's projected rebellion was that four Lieutenants of the great Arab Chiefs had been brought over to join the conspiracy and had received each a pair of Shawls from the Bramhin Ram Rao. This sort of presentation called Khillut marks the tender of service and allegiance by the one party and their acceptance by the other. Information was subsequently sent in India, reason to believe that minute investigations, which were made in the matter, had elicited no fact. It is now again revived with greater force with the addition that Baja Eswunt Rao, the Sheristadar of the Arabs, the person employed to transact their business with the Nizam's Government and from that circumstance possessing great influence and consideration, with it, was concerned in the conspiracy and had brought over four Lieutenants of the Arab troops to join it. This new rumour is probably as groundless as the first—I certainly do not believe it in all its parts. Eswunt Rao is a man of ability and his whole career has been marked by moderation and good conduct, and it is not likely, possessing wealth and a lucrative position, that he will place himself in a situation of hazard and difficulty both with the Nizam's Government and the Arabs.

The rebel Bramhin is certainly lurking somewhere in our neighbourhood. If he possess energy he will not quit the locality wherein alone he can hope to get up a rebellion of any dimensions. The Nizam's country is now the stronghold for rebellion if the Arabs can be got to join it. Without them it is the weakest of the weak. With the Arabs the whole country would rise. Of the Patans, the next in strength to the Arabs, there can be no doubt. This nation, however, is not such as it was when Sirdar Khan charged the English at Poona, meeting their bayonets and falling on them, and was so cut up that it was remarked there was not a house in Chunchulgoora, or Musheerabad, Saburhan villages of Hyderabad in which the Patans reside, that did not go into mourning. The forces of the Patans that are now kept up by their chiefs more for gain than for a spirit of military ardour, consist with a few exceptions of men who are the refuse soldiery of the country, individuals among these of the better order would fight, but it cannot be expected that their horse would ever make a charge on unbroken ranks or attempt a diversion. The Patan military Sirdars aware of their weakness now protect themselves with Arab guards as some of them before did, and for what I know may now do. Double-talao, I heard him say at the house of Constable Bell, that he kept the pots. This is one of my pots (produced) my name is on it.

Police Sepoy No. 876.—On Tuesday morning the prisoner was made over to me by his master on a charge of stealing pots. The prisoner took me to a prostitute's house where I found this pot.

Sydoo Ahmed said.—I am a tinman, and the prisoner is my servant. About eleven days ago I gave him eight pots which had been tinned to take to the prosecutor's house. The prisoner did not return. On Thursday morning last I seized the prisoner in the hay market. He then pointed out a man, of the name of Emam, with whom he said he had pledged them. After that he brought me to a woman's house and the policeman went with him and brought this pot, which was one of these I tinned for the prosecutor.

Some other witnesses were called in support of the prosecution.

The prisoner had nothing to say in his defence.

HIS WORSHIP said, that the case was proved against the prisoner, and as he found that he was an old offender, he scatenced him to be imprisoned for four months in the House of Correction with hard labour.

(BEFORE N. W. OLIVER, ESQ.)

A DESERTER.—Edward Howell, Steward of the ship Edward Percy was brought up on remand charged with deserting the ship. The Captain not having produced any further evidence this day to substantiate the charge, His Worship ordered the prisoner to be discharged.

CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST.—Hurry Soorjee was charged with having committed a criminal breach of trust in misappropriating certain monies the property of his employers.

Mr. Nesserwanjee appeared for the prosecution.

The prisoner was undefended.

Bimjee Rowjee called and examined by Mr. Nesserwanjee.—I carry on business in partnership with my brother Veerjee Rowjee. This book, (produced,) the cash book is mine, it is called "mail," of this year 1918. This entry is in my handwriting. On Magsur Wud, the 6th Monday, I received from the prisoner ninety-two rupees and three annas, on account of Ballajee Sewpursaud. Prisoner said,—"I received ninety-two rupees and three annas of him, credit this on his account." Thereupon I credited that amount. I now see (referring to the book in his hands) these figures 92 at the upper side of the entry. Those figures appear to have been scratched and altered to Rs. 162-5 annas and a half. The figures 92 at the bottom of the entry have not been altered. I can swear that the alteration was made by the prisoner. I have never received the difference between 92 and 162 rupees from the prisoner, on account of Ballajee Sewpursaud.

Narrayenpursaid Ramakut.—I am a Moonim in the employ of Sewpursaud, and have had dealings with one Bhimjee Rowjee. I produce my receipt book. I remember paying money to the prisoner on account of Bhimjee Rowjee. This is the entry (indicated in the book.) It is signed by the prisoner and dated Powth und the 6th, that corresponds with Maghser vad the 6th. I paid into the hands of the prisoner one hundred and fifty-eight rupees and a quarter and I expected that amount to be credited to me by Bhimjee Rowjee. The original amount due was one hundred and sixty-two rupees and a half. It was about that sum. There may have been some difference in the number of annas. That sum has been credited to me by Bhimjee Rowjee. I expect that it has been. I have not seen Bhimjee Rowjee's books. I may have sent money before by the prisoner. I knew that he was in the employ of Bhimjee Rowjee's firm.

HYDERABAD.

THE correspondent of the Poona Observer writes from Secundesabad 27th March—Mr. Harding, the Deputy Controller, has arrived. The new appointment has been, we hear, created at Hyderabad, viz., that of an Auditor and Accountant General, and one Mr. Gordon, from Madras, has been nominated to the post. There was another plan of the Rao Saheb, which it quite escaped my memory to mention before. It appears that the Rao had a full determination of taking this place, Trimulgherry, &c. on the 8th instant, and in case of a postponement, on a bad day, he had planned to catch us all at the different churches on the Sunday following, and butcher us unmercifully there; but a Providential interference frustrated his conspiracy; he was compelled to fly. The 5000 Rs. have not induced any one as yet either to seize him, or show his hiding-place. The Jemedar who first gave information about the Rao will be rewarded. The troops here have all been served out with a few rounds of ball cartridges, each to guard against the nocturnal attacks of the enemy. Weather very severe.

In submitting the interests of this society to the consideration and support of the public of Calcutta, it will hardly be necessary to the European community to dwell upon the advantages which have attended the "Royal Society" of London, and the numerous Provincial Societies which have sprung out of it in behalf of the animal creation of England; but to the Native gentry of India, whose sympathy and valued influence it is intended very earnestly to seek, it may not be without interest or unproductive of confidence in an undertaking which the example and the countenance of the great and the good are capable of conferring, to be told that there exists in England, for the protection of its dumb animals, a Society of which the Queen is the Patron, and a very large body of influential Noblemen and Gentlemen are its Patrons and office-bearers; that no less than twenty-five branch Societies exist in other parts of the country, to which upwards of five hundred gentlemen voluntarily give their time, their attention and influence, in support of that cause which is the object of this address to advocate in behalf of the suffering animals of India.—That advocacy may be very brief. From the repeated expression of feeling of remonstrance, and reproach in the public papers, and the assurances received in private, it is believed that there is already an amount of sympathy in the object of this Society which renders it more needful to shew how, where, and towards what immediate object or measure help should be sent, than lengthily to plead for that help. It is the object of a Society to afford this information,—to establish a channel through which aid should be sent, and to afford the requisite assistance to that aid will be well and rightly governed and applied. With these views a few gentlemen interested in the subject assembled in the month of October last, and established the "Calcutta Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals," but resolved to await the result of a communication which had been opened with the Royal Society of London, in order to be armed with useful information and help and guidance in India. This information having been obligingly and abundantly supplied, the Society here is now in a position to appeal to the public for support to its plans, which admitting of extension hereafter, it is thought will be sufficient to meet the requirements of a beginning. These are:—

1st. The employment, as in the Home Society, of two or more European officers, as the means and necessities of the Society may dictate—for the purpose of arresting, or reporting and prosecuting in the name of the Society all persons guilty of cruelty to animals in Calcutta and its suburbs.

2nd. To enlist the good will and aid of the Police, as in England, to co-operate in these measures.

3rd. To enlighten the public on the present state of the Law in this country with reference to the objects of the Society, suggest measures for improvement in the Law whenever necessary and practicable, and to disseminate, by placards and notices in the vernacular, such information and remonstrances as may serve to instruct the ignorant and warn the heartless against acts of cruelty to animals.

4th. The introduction into schools of Books or Tracts, both in English and the Vernacular, calculated to impress on youth the duty of humanity towards the inferior animals.

5th. To seek the aid of the Pulpit, the Press, and all public intructors, in advocating in their widest form, the principles and the objects of this and similar Societies, having in view the promotion of kindness to all of God's living creatures.

In furtherance of these objects it is desirable to establish a Fund—first, to meet a variety of incidental expenses (which in England have been found numerous) attending the operations of the Society:—secondly, that it may form a nucleus for the continued accumulation of means from donations, legacies, &c., that may in time enable the Society to extend its operations into a wider field of usefulness. In addition to donations, a regular but small monthly or quarter by subscription is proposed to defray the salaries of the constables or agents, and a collector or peon; and with these views the friends of humanity are now appealed to for their support. Donations are therefore invited, and will be thankfully received by the Secretary, and a Book for the Registry of Donors and subscribers' names will shortly be sent round.

Finally, the Committee entertain the hope that by the establishment of this Society, a stimulus may be set in action, prompting to the formation of similar associations all over India, so that where the British rule extends, British humanity may be evidenced with it.

By Order of the Committee,

C. GRANT,
Honorary Secretary and Treasurer.
3, Hare Street, Calcutta, March 1862.

THE Englishman, March 27, calls upon Lord Elgin and Mr. Laing to reconsider the subject of the reduction of the Import duties on cotton goods and yarns before yielding to any pressure brought to bear upon them. The first question to be considered says our contemporary, is whether the financial condition of the Imperial revenues in such as to warrant the abolition, or even partial reduction, of the present amount raised by taxes other than on the land. If this be the case, it does not necessarily follow that any reduction should be made in general taxation; there is still much to be done ere the Government can feel secure that the very taxes in which reduction is proposed, may not very shortly have to be resorted to again. It cannot be good policy to reduce taxation one day, and have to renew it the next. After having enquired as to whether reduction in taxation can be effected without crippling the means of the disposal of the government for carrying out those works, so indispensible to the prosperity of the country, a question naturally arises as to which of the taxes now imposed is the most unfair in its bearing, and most partially imposed. The Chamber of Commerce will assert that the import duties on Manchester wares, is the most obnoxious, as it affects Europeans only, and is retrograde in its action. We have already assigned reasons, which no one has as yet come forward to dispute, why the import duties are not in reality oppressive even on a class, and why their repeal will be attended with no benefit, either present or prospective, to the class who produce the goods in question. It must not be forgotten that it is with Indian not British taxation that we are dealing; and we may therefore with justice, and without laying ourselves open to a charge of illiberality, assert that as the class who produce the goods on which these import duties are levied, is not of the Indian but of the British community, they cannot with justice claim to be heard in preference to those who bear the burthen of meeting the necessities of the Indian government. The reduction of the duties on cotton fabrics to five per cent., and on yarns to three and a half per cent. will deprive the government of about two and a half millions annually, and will benefit not one soul in India; and as it is the people of India who will have to make up the deficiency, they are surely more to be considered than those, who, while seeking their gain from India, need not pay one rupee to it. We therefore claim, as a right indisputable, the first consideration of the government for the tax-payers of India; we do not at the present time advocate in any way the reduction of any portion of the taxes now raised, until such time as such improvements have taken place in the public works of a remunerative description, which are in the hands of the government, as to render the sources of revenue derived from thence and the soil, sufficient for the requirements of the State. But if reductions is to take place in taxation, that reduction should be in the income tax; it will be far less felt than the proposed bating of the import duties, as at the present time it yields but £1,00,000. It ought to yield no doubt five millions at least, but it does not do so; simply because direct taxation in India has been found to be impossible except in the cases of the officers of government whose incomes are derived from the State, and are therefore taxed as they are issued by the disbursing officer. Those who ought to pay this tax evade it in every way, and except from the European community, official and non-official, it is doubtful if a just and fair return of this income is made by any one of the numberless wealthy natives in the realm. Under these circumstances there cannot be a doubt as to which tax should be the first abolished.

WE are informed by the Englishman that the Government of India, under instructions from H. Majesty's Secretary of State for India, has placed itself in communication with the Director of Public Instruction on the subject of a Censorship of the Native Press. The Director's opinion is that the first step to be taken is without doubt, to obtain some information, in which reliance could be placed, giving a general idea of the present condition of the Native Press, and of the several descriptions of works issuing therefrom. The results of the enquiry made are far from satisfactory, but the following classified list of one hundred and thirty seven new works or new editions, printed in Bengalee during the past year by not more than twenty printing establishments, may be taken as a proof the present great activity of the publishing trade whilst it sufficiently indicates the classes of publications which are most in demand.

Bengalee works published in 1861:—

	No. of Works.	No. of Copies.
Educational	54	1,67,700
Political	26	35,500
Dramatic	9	9,500
Novels and Tales	18	19,700
Religious	7	15,500
Amatory	8	9,000
Legal	3	13,000
Ethical & Philosophical	3	6,500
Astronomy & Astrology	5	18,000
Art	1	1,000
Games, jests, &c.	3	2,500
	137	2,97,900

There is reason, moreover, to believe that this list does not comprise more than from one-half to two-thirds of the publications of the year.

Besides this, a list of twenty-nine Bengalee periodicals has been obtained, of which

3	Appear Daily.
1	Ditto Tri-weekly.
1	Ditto By-weekly.
13	Ditto Weekly.
3	Ditto Fortnightly.
8	Ditto Monthly.

For carrying out the measure proposed by the Director, a Legislative enactment will be required, rendering a periodical registration of printing presses imperative under a penalty, and providing that government shall be regularly furnished at the time of publication with at least one copy of every book, pamphlet, or periodical that is issued. The office to which these copies should be sent, must be kept distinct from all the general departments of administrations. By giving the arrangement a literary and statistical, rather than a political character, much possible misconception and suspicion will be avoided. In this view the Director observes that a natural and convenient receptacle for them might be found in the great Central Museum which it is in contemplation to establish in Calcutta, and that so an unexceptionable means would be afforded for introducing the sort of supervision which is required, not only without objection on the part of native publishers, but even with their positive approval.

THE Hurkaru, March 27, states that the receipts of the East India Railway have reached to over a lakh of rupees for a single week. The traffic accounts for the seven days ending February 23rd, showed a gross total of Rs. 1,00,098-7-6, made up of 42 per cent. in the coaching department, and 58 per cent. from the carriage of goods and minerals. The net receipts for passengers was Rs. 34,235-3-0, of which the first class produced about 9 per cent., the second 11 per cent., and the third 80 per cent., or Rs. 27,538-4-6. Our contemporary makes the following just reflections on the above statistics:—

A dozen years back, the most sanguine supporters of railways would have hesitated to expect, that on the line from Calcutta to Monghyr Native travellers would be found paying £2,750 for six days' use of the iron road. Most of the civilising elements have had their effect over-estimated, but imagination has not yet done justice to the railway as an agent of beneficial change. Not merely does it disorganise various kinds of labour, but it revolutionises ideas. The man who has been whirled through the air at the rate of thirty miles an hour, will never believe again in the perfection of the bullock cart. He has been lifted out of the domain of thoughts and habits which have descended to him through countless generations, and is landed in a new world full, as he perceives, of wonders the sole creation of the European strangers. To talk by lightning, and travel on the wings of the wind, are gifts that he must needs lay hold of, and they are totally irreconcileable with Hindooism of the addition that railways have made to the materials wealth of the country it is scarcely possible to form an adequate conception. They have doubled the rates of wages, and wherever their proper influence has been developed, and the teeming riches of the soil are brought to every point of the seaboard, no limit can be assigned to the increase and the value of production. Wherever the line passes, the ryot, if inclined to labour, achieves almost at once his independence of the Zemindar or mahajun. On the Mutlah line he gets through his job of piece work by noon each day, and never earns less then four annas, often much more. He can live, therefore, and save money, without trenching upon the produce of his land, to the cultivation of which half his time is devoted. The only men who have to contend with this state of affairs are the moneylenders and grain dealers. The one cannot obtain such extravagant rates of interest as of old, and the other is unable to buy up the crops at his own prices. The laborer is working out his own redemption by means which the Native capitalist loses no opportunity of decrying. The European, who is charged with oppressing and ruining him, finds after a season or two, that he has set up a master where he is said to have created a slave.

A CORRESPONDENT of the same journal in upper Assam complains of a state of things which threatens to entail serious consequences upon a most important branch of industry, interesting alike to India and Europe. The labor which is sufficient for the wants of the Tea planters, machinery for preparing Flax has this season been sent from England. It has not yet been erected for want of a building, that placed at the disposal of the manager being so small as to be quite unfitted for his purposes. The great iron wheels belonging to the Mecadam Flax breaking and scratching machine cannot enter the doors, nor, if they could, would there be any room for them to work. Dr. Jameson, who has lately returned from Europe, and who during his residence there spent much of his time in examining Flax cultivation, has been deputed by the Punjab Government to Sealkote to report on the measures most expedient to be pursued in order to encourage the cultivation of the plant, and the preparation of the fibre. As a temporary measure he has recommended a small sum to be placed at the manager's disposal, to enable him to alter one of the buildings so as to fit it for the machinery, otherwise the Flax crop of this season cannot, in a satisfactory manner, be prepared. This would be a matter of regret as it is of great importance to teach, as soon as possible, the natives how to work the machinery, and through it to shew them that the Flax grown in the country is capable of producing a very fine fibre. In the neighbourhood of Sealkote, and in the adjoining districts, several tracts have been brought under cultivation with acclimated seed, and the crops presented are equal in length of straw to any produced in Ireland though not quite so heavy. This however, can be remedied by thicker sowing. The quantity sown by the Zemindars was one maund per acre, a proportion so small to insure a heavy crop. In England the quantity sown to the acre is general two bushels. Along with the Flax raised from ...ated seed, there were many fields, the produce of ... seed. But the stalk was not more than 1 or 1½ ...igh, and though it was not full grown, yet it was ... plants fitted to give a fibre useful for the Home ... could not be expected. ... imported or acclimated seed along therefore, ... of the undertaking depends. So convinced ...meson of this that season he recom- ... Government of the North West Provinces to ... of Russian Flax seeds and he was authoriz- ... England, to make arrangements for its export- ... seed reached Calcutta in September last, and is now growing at Sharnpore in a most luxuriant manner. Mr. Wightman, concurring with Dr. Jameson, had also recommended his Company to send him Russian seed; and they forwarded fifteen tons packed in casks by the Cape. But it all failed to germinate, and was therefore quite useless to him. Dr. Jameson was allowed to adopt any measure he deemed necessary to ensure the arrival of the Flax seeds in good order. He accordingly sent orders to Russia for a ton of fresh Flax seeds, to be packed in double number bags, and again well covered, the size of each package limited to 1 cwt. In this manner 1½ tons reached London where it was again packed in wooden boxes lined with tin, and despatched Overland. All the seeds, though they arrived late in the season, germinated, proving the advantage of adopting this route.

The acclimated seed which was sown only last year by Zemindars at Sealkote conditionally on an advance of Rs. 4 per acre was, this season, taken from the manager, and that most eagerly, on his own terms which are as follows :—The acclimated seed given, to be returned by Zemindars in kind on the ripening of the crop; the sowing to be undertaken without an advance. The surplus seed to be purchased by the manager at the rate of Rs. 5 per maund. The flax to be pulled and rotted by the Zemindars, but the straw to be carried to the Factory at the manager's expense. All good straw to be purchased, if from Russian seed, at 2½ maunds per Rupee; if from native seed, at 3 maunds per Rupee by the manager. All that is now wanted to make the crop a general one, is good acclimated seed in sufficient quantity. To encourage the natives Dr. Jameson has recommended that Rs. 500 be given in prizes by the local Civil officers for the best specimens of flax straw, and horned scatched fibre; and in order to induce competition, he has suggested that the prizes be open to all the Punjaub and N. W. Provinces. By the last mail we have received information that specimens of the Flax fibre prepared at Sealkote last season, and forwarded to London by Mr. McLeod, were valued by the brokers at £50 and £60, per ton, and that Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India had granted to the Indian Flax Company £1,000, annually for two years to purchase Flax seed. The only condition is that the Directors undertake to raise a sufficient amount to enable them to continue their assertions in promising the production of Flax in the Punjaub for a period of not less than three years, the amount to be afterwards repaid in the event of the cultivation proving remunerating. These conditions are liberal, and if the cultivation be carried on with activity and energy, we doubt not it will be attended with success, and prove highly important not only to the Punjaub, but also to the North Western Provinces. The subject has excited attention in Madras also so that, in the course of a few years, Flax should become one of the most important of our Indian exports.

NEW WESTMINSTER-BRIDGE.

(From the Times, Feb. 27.)

It is some comfort in the midst of the delays and mistakes that have been made with regard to the Kensington-road, to find that we are likely to have at least one improved thoroughfare in London open in time for the Exhibition. Mr. Page is confident that he will have the whole roadway of the new bridge at Westminster finished in May next, and, according as he succeeds or fails in his endeavours to this end, he may look for praise or censure from the public.

The long work of constructing this very handsome bridge, without for a day interrupting the carriage or passenger traffic, has been one of no ordinary difficulty, and to this is due much of the delay that has arisen in its progress towards completion. Old Westminster-bridge, ruinous and unsafe, had to be cut almost in two to allow of the erection of the first portion of the structure, and then its crumbling foundations had to be gathered from the bed of the river before the other half could be proceeded with. When we see how week after week great main avenues of traffic are blocked up if a gas pipe happens to be out of order or a 3 ft. sewer wants a few bricks in its crown, it is a contrast creditable to Mr. Page that he has been able to build his bridge across the Thames without a single stoppage of traffic of any kind. The last vestiges of the old structure have now been dredged out, and all the arches of the remaining half, save the fifth and sixth, are completed. The two latter will have their crowns of wrought-iron girders bolted in next week, and as fast as each is placed the buckle plates for the roadway go down. Over these plates come a picking of blocks of pine wood and asphalte, and over all the stone pitching payment of the road.. Up to the present the eastern half has been entirely disconnected from that which is finished. It is now being joined by a number of short cross girders or stay pieces of cast iron, and over these, as soon as the timber scaffolding is removed, the plates and roadway of the bridge will be laid so as to form one complete structure of the two halves. When the two are connected into one rigid mass the vibration now experienced on the western and smaller half will entirely disappear. Before the bridge can be opened, however, the half that is now finishing and closed must be entirely completed. A very broad foot pavement will be laid down with small handsome terra cotta tiles, crossbarred in contrary directions, to give firm foothold, and these are to be edged in with a kerb of red granite. These terra cotta tiles are coming much into use, as experience shows them to be better, drier, more easily repaired, and more durable for passenger traffic than granite itself. After long consideration and discussion it has been decided to place the tramways for heavy traffic to and fro in the centre of the bridge, leaving two roadways of 20 ft. wide on each side for the lighter vehicles. The side next the Houses of Parliament is completely finished, except some ornamental shields that can be bolted into the Gothic quatrefoil spandrils of the arches at any moment. From this point, therefore, the effect of the whole structure can well be judged, and it appears to be both graceful and massive, and the perforated trefoil balustrade between the granite piers has especially a light and pleasing look, and serves as a cornice to the whole. The conventional street lamp-post will not intrude upon this thoroughfare, as handsome lamps and posts of cast iron have been specially designed to be in keeping with the main architectural features of the rest of the work, and all the iron portions of it are to be painted of a pale neutral tint, excepting only the crowns of the arches, which are to be gilt and will be emblazoned with the arms of England and Westminster in gold and enduring colours. Since the western half has been opened for traffic not the most remote approach towards a sinking of the piers has taken place, which is something to say when even with all the care with which London-bridge was built it sunk more than an inch on the eastern side before it had been open a month. When the entire bridge is finished there will be two footways of 15 feet wide each, two tramways in the centre of 7 feet 6 inches wide, and two roadways for the light traffic of 20 feet each. The extreme width of London-bridge is only 56 feet from parapet to parapet, or exactly the space of the roadway of the new bridge exclusive of footpaths. To enable the bridge to advance as far as it has done, nearly 2,000,000 cubic feet of masonry and brickwork have been removed from above and below the river. When all is complete, the bed of the river itself is to be dredged out of rubbish, &c., some 10 or 12 feet below its present level beneath the new arches. At present, the waterway under the new bridge is the same as that under the old—namely, 750 feet. But of this space nearly 150 feet are occupied by the scaffolding, &c., connected with the new structure. In a month or two more these will all be removed, and for the first time within the last 20 years the tide will flow unimpeded up and down the Thames. The result of this will be of course that the tide above Westminster-bridge will raise slightly higher than it has hitherto done, while the scour down the river will be largely increased. The knowledge of this latter fact ought to hasten the committee of the Bridge-house Estates to an immediate decision with reference to Blackfriar-bridge. An increased scour is almost certain to lead to an increased settlement in the most defective arches of that work. The defective structure, to an increased settlement they cannot be exposed without the greatest risk of their coming down in a mass, when in all human probability most of the arches in the centre of the stream would be certain to follow. As a stimulus towards arriving at a decision, Mr. Page cannot do better than get his bridge finished at once, and then leave the public to judge of the soundness of his opinion as to what a bridge should be. For the sake of the public, and their convenience, we certainly hope that this opportunity will on no account be deferred beyond next May.
